

Parking Area Opens On Friday Morning

Opening of Arlington center's long awaited and much needed public parking lot will take place on Friday morning, it was announced this week by the Board of Public Works.

The parking lot, off Mystic ave., near Mass. Ave., will handle nearly 200 cars, it was stated, and will be open at all times for motorists in the area.

Entrance to the parking lot will be on Winslow street, opposite the super market there. There will be no restrictions on public parking in the lot, and motorists will have to handle their own parking problems for the most part.

The Board of Public Works explained in announcing the opening that the work is of temporary nature. Because of the proposed Arlington Centerplan, it was found advisable not to complete the entire project at this time.

A total appropriation of $13,000 was set aside for the parking lot, which has been underway for some time, and which replaces several old buildings which have been torn down.

The area surrounding the parking lot has been graded and landscaped, and should prove a boon to the appearance of Arlington center and to shoppers who have had trouble with parking problems in the past.

late Friday night, Arlington Police blocked the roads leading from Belmont to Arlington in an effort to capture five vicious gunmen who held up a Belmont club, critically injuring one man, and escaped with $1,000.

The holdup occurred at the Italian American Veteran's Club in Waverly Square. Twelve members of the club were watching television and playing cribbage, according to their story, when the front and back doors of the club burst open. Four masked men came in the front door, all carrying guns and one came through the rear door.

Without saying a word but signaling with their guns they lined the club members up against the wall. As the men were standing with their hands up, another club member entered, and Anthony Carlo, who was facing the wall, turned to see who came in and was shot by the bandit leader. The bullet entered his left buttock and lodged in his groin after passing through his stomach.

The member who entered was frisked by one of the bandits and his wallet with $110 was taken. He was put against the wall with the other members.

The bandit leader then told all of the victims to kneel and throw their money and valuables on the floor behind them. When they had complied with his order all of the men were forced into the cellar including the wounded man. The injured member could not walk to the cellar stairs so was kicked over to them and shoved down the stairs.

The men were locked in the cellar as the five men made their escape. However, the victims managed to break out and sound the alarm.

Chief William Heyd, who was attending the Policeman's Ball, rushed to the scene and sent out an alarm for policemen of surrounding Towns to be on the lookout for five men in a black sedan.

It was estimated that over $1000 was taken from the club members by the bandits.

According to police officials, the gang must be a local one or they would not have known, the time the route patrolman rang the box, nor that most of the department was attending the ball or the building with the painted windows was a club.

The car was seen speeding through Bedford and Lowell but could not be caught due to its high speed.

Tax Rate Announcement Brings Blast From Democratic Leader

Political Charges Made By O'Neil -- Local Assessors Say Town Has Paid All MTA Debt

Announcement of Arlington's 1950 tax rate of $50.40 with a notation that $2.50 of this rate was caused by payments to the M. T. A.

Fraternity of Amherst College and driven by Ed Doran also of the college.

Doran was driving up the pike when the car suddenly burst into flames near Park Avenue. He pulled it to the curb and jumped out and sprinted for the nearest fire alarm box.

The Arlington cruiser with officer Harold O'Leary and George Alexie was just rounding the corner of Park Avenue and the Pike when they spotted flames leaping into the air near the front of a house on the Pike. Immediately they radioed fire headquarters informing them of the fire.

Fire apparatus arrived on the scene in a matter of minutes and extinguished the blaze in the car engine before the gasoline became ignited.

The officers reported, instead of a car, from a distance, it looked as though it were a house on fire, for the flames were leaping some ten feet into the air, and heavy smoke made visibility poor.

According to police officials, the gang must be a local one or they would not have known, the time the route patrolman rang the box, nor that most of the department was attending the ball or the building with the painted windows was a club.

The car was seen speeding through Bedford and Lowell but could not be caught due to its high speed.

Tax Statement

The Board of Assessors wishes to correct a rumor that has arisen around town relative to exemption to be allowed Gold Star fathers and holders of the Purple Heart. The statement was made erroneously that this exemption is available on the 1949 taxes. The facts are that the Gold Star fathers and Purple Heart holders are entitled to exemption on the 1950 and subsequent taxes if they qualify.

NOTICE

The Board of Assessors at a Special Meeting held Wednesday afternoon, fixed the tax rate for 1950 at $50.40.

They also announced that nearly $2.50 of this rate is traceable to the amount of the M. T. A. deficit which was charged to the Town.

The Board of Assessors replied that Mr. O'Neil's statement was also "obviously political", and the result indicates that the issue may be significant in the campaign here later this year.

Promoted In Navy

Robert A. Jutstrom, a Naval Reservist of 59 Amsden street, Arlington, and a member of Organized Submarine Division 1-10 of Boston, has been advanced in rating to Chief Diesel Engineman, by the Commandant, First Naval District.

To qualify for his new rating, Jutstrom has passed examinations in seamanship and Naval regulations, as well as in his own rating specialty.

As a member of the submarine reserve, he participates in the Navy's peace time training program one night a week at District Headquarters in South Boston. He also goes aboard a submarine of the fleet for an annual two-week cruise, receiving pay for both types of duty.

The submarine reserve, the night-time Navy, is composed of young recruits and former servicemen interested in submarine training. There are new openings for young men in the four submarine divisions which meet on Wednesday or Thursday evening each week.

Break Into Three Buildings Sunday

The inspectors of the Arlington Police Department were kept busy Sunday, the result of a series of breaks in a school, bowling alley and private home.

Early Sunday morning the caretaker of the Regent Bowling Alley in Arlington center reported to police sometime Saturday night the alleys were broken into and the cigarette machine smashed open.

Investigation proved a sum of money and a large number of cigarettes were stolen from the machine.

A few minutes later, Mrs. James Durant, 59 Trowbridge street, reported her home was entered sometime during her absence, 7:45 to 12:00 p.m., Saturday night.

Police reported entrance to the house was gained by smashing a pane of glass over the lock of a rear door leading from the rear piazza to the kitchen.

It was not immediately ascertained if anything was stolen.

Sunday afternoon, James Powers, principal of the Junior High School reported the school had been broken into sometime Saturday night.

Police went to the scene and reported entrance to the building was gained by removing a grating from the window of the manual arts training room. Investigation is still underway to determine what was stolen.

Final Crosby PTA Meeting

The last meeting of the year for the Crosby School P. T. A. will be held on May 9, at eight o'clock.

The new officers will be installed by Mrs. Humphrey Sullivan, Director of District 4 of the P. T. A.

As is the custom at the last meeting, entertainment will be provided by Crosby School pupils.

There will be an open discussion on continuing the Brotherhood Programs for next year.

published over the names of the assessors. It may be true that the cost of funding the entire M. T. A. deficit will represent $2.50 on the local tax rate, but Arlington is one of the only three communities in the district which voted to pay the entire deficit in one year. Chapter 572 of the Acts of 1949 provided a method of spreading out the 1948-1949 deficit over a period as long as ten years, and most of the cities and towns availed themselves of this opportunity. To begin with the deficit resulted from long neglect of the mounting Boston Elevated crisis, and it required a Democratic Governor and Democratic Legislature to face the problem realistically and provide a permanent solution. Present operating revenue on the system indicates that the period of annual assessments upon member cities and towns to pay deficits is about at an end, for the road is now paying its own way. As a matter of fact the Arlington rate is substantially higher this year because of heavy appropriations voted for schools and roads—both worthy and desirable expenditures, but which account for the largest portion of this year's tax increase. As a matter of fact—just to keep the record straight, the Arlington tax rate is lower by several dollars per thousand by reason of the fact that Governor Dever forced a higher distribution of corporate and personal income taxes in 1949 than had ever previously been authorized. For example, in 1948 Arlington received from the State from this source the sum of $409,903.35. In 1949, Arlington received $681,970.97—an increase in 1949 over 1948 of $272,067.62. It would be helpful to have the Assessors announce what the Arlington rate would be in 1950 without this extra distribution.

Mr. Bibeault, merchandising expert, is a resident of 22 Golden ave., Arlington, and has made his home here for several years.

The complete line of Westinghouse equipment now being featured at the Alfred J. Thibeault company includes everything from the newest television models to the smaller and other well-known Westinghouse products.

Mr. Thibeault joined with his new department manager in issuing an invitation to Arlington residents to inspect his new line, and to drop in for the same high quality of merchandise at reasonable prices which has characterized the firm's activity during the past years.

I Wonder

I WONDER just how many Arlington residents have run afoul of Arlington's traffic violation drive in the past few days. The police department really has been on the jump to stop the wave of accidents.

I WONDER how many of the offenders were the so-called weaker sex. We saw at least three of them displaying a license or registration to the men in blue in the past few days.

I WONDER what Arlington doctor is using gauze bandages to protect his newly planted lawn from birds.

I WONDER, too, how soon the new green grass will be peeping through the ground around our new parking lot on Mystic street. That landscaping job is certainly going to be a big improvement in Arlington center.

I WONDER if Arlington Joe Coleman, this town's adopted gift to the Philadelphia Athletics, will stay long with the Mackmen if the condition of that once rugged right arm doesn't improve. His friends who saw his brief appearance at Fenway Park Sunday certainly were unhappy to see Joe lobbing them in, obviously in pain and discomfort.

I WONDER how many of last year's ardent softball fans have been turning out this week to see the start of the 1950 season.

I WONDER how many residents of East Arlington will miss dropping in at Food Lane now that the popular market has been closed, at least temporarily.

I WONDER if you were one of the almost 100 motorists who didn't have that little sticker on the automobile, come last Monday morning. An expensive omission.

Women Voters
Hold Meetings

The welfare situation in Arlington was the topic of discussion at meetings of the League of Women Voters of Arlington on Wednesday, April 26 and Thursday, April 27.
Mrs. David Humez of the Local Affairs Committee of the league presented the subject on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Malcolm Masters and on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Norris Hoyt.

Mrs. Humez described first the Department of Public Welfare. The Welfare Board's personnel consists of Mr. George V. Morse, welfare agent, Mr. John Travers, who interviews all applicants, six case workers and six clerical workers. The Department of Public Welfare is divided into three parts, the Old Age Assistance Bureau of Public Relief, Aid to Dependent Children, and the Welfare Department which handles all other cases. In discussing these three divisions, Mrs.
Humez pointed out that the Old Age Assistance Bureau has by far the greatest number of cases.

Other welfare agencies serving Arlington which were discussed are the American Red Cross, the Arlington Boys' Club, the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, the Campfire Girls, the Arlington Visiting Nurse Association part of whose work is done in cooperation with the welfare department, the Arlington Social Service League, the St. James branch of the Massachusetts Catholic Women's Guild and the St. Agnes chapter of the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Mrs. Humez said that one of the chief deficiencies in Arlington Welfare is the lack of available institutional care in Arlington. The indigent are sent to the state hospital at Tewksbury, the crippled to the Massachusetts Hospital School, the blind to Perkins Institute, and the deaf to places in Danvers and Boston. The chief welfare problems in Arlington are a lack of unrestricted funds and lack of living arrangements in the town for the aged needing assistance.

Mrs. Humez then discussed welfare work done in other town departments.
Sergeant Fitzgibbons of the Police Department handles juvenile delinquency working with the parents. The Auxiliary Police handle preventive work on the juvenile, organizing dances and sports programs.
The attendance supervisors of the School Department work in cooperation with the home and school on absences from school. The parole officer for this district arranges help for parolees in employment, relief and guidance through appropriate agencies.

There is a Department of Veterans Service which under Mr. Armour aids veterans financially and gives counsel and information. The Arlington Housing Authority under
Mr. Robert Houser with Mr. W.
Dale Barker as chairman of the Housing Board works on veterans housing problems.

Vacation Pupils Placed On Jobs

Following the established policy of allowing seniors in good standing to enter industry, Francis Flynn of 119 Franklin street and Edward Hanlon of 34 Reed street are starting this week with the Arlington Buick Company, and George Kazanjian of 40 Mystic Valley Parkway is to be employed by the Somerville Buick Company. These pupils will return in June for their diplomas.

The plan of work experience is optional with the pupils. It has been found, however, that pupils who have worked on this basis have a much better chance of employment when graduating. Usually their training places them in line for rapid advancement.

Vocational pupils complete three years of specific training in their chosen field in industry at the Arlington Vocational High School which is substantially aided by the Department of Education of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Loss Of Social Security Cards
Delays Jobs

Lost social security cards are causing lost work, according to James T. Phelan, Manager of the Cambridge Social Security Administration office.

More persons in the eleven cities and towns served by the Cambridge office asked the Social Security office for duplicate account number cards in the first quarter of 1959 than for new ones.

In the first quarter of the year, 949 duplicate cards were issued to persons who reported their original cards lost or destroyed.

During the same period, 773 original cards were issued to persons added to the area's employed.

Out of more than 900 people filing for duplicate social security account numbers, there were doubtless many employees who were delayed from going to work on new jobs because of having lost their account number card.

Wives of wage earners and mothers of young workers may render themselves and their family a great service by helping to take care of the social security account number cards of the members of their family. The only time a person needs to have his social security card with him is when he is going to work on a new job.

"After the employer has a record of the name and account number on his card, the employee should put his account number card away in a safe place," Mr. Phelan said.

The Cambridge office located at 2 Trowbridge street also serves the following cities and towns: Arlington, Bedford, Burlington, Lexington, Newton, Somerville, Watertown, Winchester and Woburn.
